PLANNING AND BUDGET OFFICE
TRAVIS COUNTY, TEXAS

MEMORANDUM

TO: Commissioners Court
FROM: Jessica Rio, Budget Director
DATE: December 23, 2013
SUBJECT: Request to Reappraise Properties Damaged in Recent Flooding

Governor Perry issued a state disaster proclamation on December 12, 2013, for the central Texas area due to flooding that occurred in late October and early November. This declaration allows the Commissioners Court to request that the Travis Central Appraisal District (TCAD) reappraise impacted properties under Section 23.02 (Reappraisal of Property Damaged in Natural Disaster Area) of the Texas Tax Code. It is my understanding that both the Austin Independent School District and the City of Austin are considering such a request. This request was also made by the Commissioners Court after the September 2011 wildfires. While the statute allows the appraisal district to charge the requesting entity for the requested reappraisal, I have been informed by the Chief Appraiser that TCAD will absorb that cost.

I have attached an informational letter that is now posted on the TCAD's website that provides an example of how reappraisal may affect a property owner's tax bill. In addition, I have attached a current listing of affected properties, which could change if additional properties are discovered. The County Auditor has indicated that the revenue impact of this request for reappraisal is estimated at less than $50,000 in foregone revenue.

The Tax Office is currently working to provide information for the public related to 2013 tax bills that are due by January 31st. They have advised that if a taxpayer was impacted by the flood, they should contact the Tax Office prior to January 31st to determine whether they qualify for an installment plan. Installment plans are authorized under Section 31.032 (Installment Payments of Taxes on Property in Disaster Area) of the Texas Tax Code. Eligible home owners would be able to pay one-fourth of their taxes prior to January 31st and would then be allowed to pay the remaining taxes without penalty or interest in three equal installments. Taxpayers should contact the Tax Office at 512-854-9473 for additional information on this option.

FLOOD INFORMATION

For those that may have been impacted by damages sustained to structures due to the floods, please read the following information.

Generally, property is appraised as of January 1 of each year. There is an alternate valuation scenario envisioned by the property tax code in Section 23.02, which states, in part: "(a) The governing body of a taxing unit that is located partly or entirely inside an area declared to be a disaster area by the governor may authorize reappraisal of all property damaged in the disaster at its market value immediately after the disaster." The code also discusses the fact that the property value is prorated from the date of the disaster. A copy of Section 23.02 is located at the end of this section. Homeowners who do not claim another homestead, begin construction within a year, and reoccupy the house within two years can maintain their homestead exemption. A copy of Section 11.135 is included at the end of the section. Finally, once the property is rebuilt, if it is not of greater square footage or higher quality, even though it is brand new it will not be treated as new value and will receive the market value that it would have received had it not been damaged by the disaster. See Section 23.23 (f) at the end of this section.

The Travis County, City of Austin and Austin ISD taxing units have informed us that they are weighing the option to grant property tax relief, due to damage from floods which occurred in October 31, 2013. Each taxing unit must pass a resolution requesting a reappraisal, if no other jurisdictions join these proclamations, then the tax relief (if formally approved) will be limited to the Travis County, City of Austin and Austin ISD portion of property taxes for the homeowners in those areas whom have suffered a loss.

The following is an example of how a property's market value would change, for a property which completely washed away to only foundation on October 31st :

Appraisal Date		January 1, 2013	November 1, 2013
Land Value		$ 82,400	$ 82,400
Improvement Value (1)	+	$ 190,679	$ 34,322
Total Value		$ 273,079	$ 116,722
Tax Rate	x	0.004946	0.004946
Full Years Property Tax		$ 1,350.65	$ 577.31
Proration (2)	x	0.830136986	0.169863014
Prorated Property Tax		$ 1,121.22	$ 98.06

(1) Property which is down to the foundation will carry a value of 18% of the original improvement value.

(2) Under this portion of the property tax law, the property is prorated by the number of days until the end of the year after the disaster occurred.

The above example assumes a home which was worth $273,079 before the flood, and $116,722 after the flood (assuming the foundation remains intact). In this example, the Travis County tax rate of .004946 is then applied to determine what the tax would be for the entire year. The property tax is then prorated by the number of days the property was unaffected by the disaster ( $303/365 = .830136986$ , for instance). The reappraised value is determined and this is prorated by the number of days it was affected by the disaster ( $62/365 = .169863014$ ). The prorated amounts which are calculated are then added.

Property Tax Before the Disaster (prorated)	$	1,121.22
Property Tax After the Disaster (prorated)	+ $	98.06
Total Property Tax (prorated)	$	1,219.29

This property owner will pay the reduced amount of $1,219.29 for county property taxes, instead of the $1,350.65 which would have been charged, had the property not suffered the flood damage. These amounts will vary by home values, when the loss occurred, the jurisdictions participating in this revaluation, and the extent of the loss (total or partial).

Exhibit A is a list of properties which the Travis Central Appraisal District has identified as properties which suffered improvement damage from flood in October 2013. If your property is not on the list, and you feel it should be, please notify us before February 15, 2014. You can contact the Customer Service Department at (512) 834-9138 or tax\_info@tcadcentral.org. In order to help our appraisers estimate the impact on value, you will need to mail or bring to the appraisal district documentation of your damage. Evidence that might help the impact on market value would include the following:

- insurance proceeds and insurance loss estimate,
- pictures or videos of the damages,
- flood incident reports,
- contractor's estimates of the repair costs,
- fee appraisals,
- sales contracts,
- listing agreements and closing statements if the property was listed or sold recently before repairs were made,
- inspection reports
- affidavits from neighbors of the damage.

The Travis Central Appraisal District will place a value on the property, and send you a new notice of appraised value in the mail in February 2014. You will have a right to protest your value. Protest hearings for your property may not occur until March, so you may not receive a tax bill until the final disposition of your protest, probably in April.

As always, your property will be revalued for the upcoming 2014 appraisal roll as of January 1, so if renovation has not been completed, you will receive a reduced value from all of your taxing jurisdictions for the 2014 appraisal roll.

Sec. 23.02. Reappraisal of Property Damaged in Disaster Area.

(a) The governing body of a taxing unit that is located partly or entirely inside an area declared to be a disaster area by the governor may authorize reappraisal of all property damaged in the disaster at its market value immediately after the disaster.

(b) If a taxing unit authorizes a reappraisal pursuant to this section, the appraisal office shall complete the reappraisal as soon as practicable. The appraisal office shall include on the appraisal records, in addition to other information required or authorized by law:

(1) the date of the disaster;

(2) the appraised value of the property after the disaster; and

(3) if the reappraisal is not authorized by all taxing units in which the property is located, an indication of the taxing units to which the reappraisal applies.

(c) A taxing unit that authorizes a reappraisal under this section must pay the appraisal district all the costs of making the reappraisal. If two or more taxing units provide for the reappraisal in the same territory, each shall share the costs of the reappraisal in that territory in the proportion the total dollar amount of taxes imposed in that territory in the preceding year bears to the total dollar amount of taxes all units providing for reappraisal of that territory imposed in the preceding year.

(d) If property damaged in a disaster is reappraised as provided by this section, the governing body shall provide for prorating the taxes on the property for the year in which the disaster occurred. If the taxes are prorated, taxes due on the property are determined as follows: the taxes on the property based on its value on January 1 of that year are multiplied by a fraction, the denominator of which is 365 and the numerator of which is the number of days before the date the disaster occurred; the taxes on the property based on its reappraised value are multiplied by a fraction, the denominator of which is 365 and the numerator of which is the number of days, including the date the disaster occurred, remaining in the year; and the total of the two amounts is the amount of taxes on the property for the year.

(e) [Repealed by Acts 1983, 68th Leg., ch. 851 (H.B. 1203), § 28, effective August 29, 1983.]

(Enacted by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., 1st C.S., ch. 13 (H.B. 30), § 57, effective January 1, 1982; am. Acts 1983, 68th Leg., ch. 851 (H.B. 1203), § 28, effective August 29, 1983; am. Acts 2013, 83rd Leg., ch. 1259 (H.B. 585), §§ 13, 14, effective June 14, 2013.)

§ 11.135. Continuation of Residence Homestead Exemption While Replacement Structure Is Constructed; Sale of Property

(a) If a qualified residential structure for which the owner receives an exemption under Section 11.13 is rendered uninhabitable or unusable by a casualty or by wind or water damage, the owner may continue to receive the exemption for the structure and the land and improvements used in the residential occupancy of the structure while the owner constructs a replacement qualified residential structure on the land if the owner does not establish a different principal residence for which the owner receives an exemption under Section 11.13 during that period and intends to return and occupy the structure as the owner's principal residence. To continue to receive the exemption, the owner must begin active construction of the replacement qualified residential structure or other physical preparation of the site on which the structure is to be located not later than the first anniversary of the date the owner ceases to occupy the former qualified residential structure as the owner's principal residence. The owner may not receive the exemption for that property under the circumstances described by this subsection for more than two years.

(b) For purposes of Subsection (a), the site of a replacement qualified residential structure is under physical preparation if the owner has engaged in architectural or engineering work, soil testing, land clearing activities, or site improvement work necessary for the construction of the structure or has conducted an environmental or land use study relating to the construction of the structure.

(c) If an owner receives an exemption for property under Section 11.13 under the circumstances described by Subsection (a) and sells the property before the owner completes construction of a replacement qualified residential structure on the property, an additional tax is imposed on the property equal to the difference between the taxes imposed on the property for each of the years in which the owner received the exemption and the tax that would have been imposed had the owner not received the exemption in each of those years, plus interest at an annual rate of seven percent calculated from the dates on which the differences would have become due.

(d) A tax lien attaches to property on the date a sale under the circumstances described by Subsection (c) occurs to secure payment of the additional tax and interest imposed by that subsection and any penalties incurred. The lien exists in favor of all taxing units for which the additional tax is imposed.

(e) A determination that a sale of property under the circumstances described by Subsection (c) has occurred is made by the chief appraiser. The chief appraiser shall deliver a notice of the determination to the owner of the property as soon as possible after making the determination and shall include in the notice an explanation of the owner's right to protest the determination. If the owner does not file a timely protest or if the final determination of the protest is that the additional taxes are due, the assessor for each taxing unit shall prepare and deliver a bill for the additional taxes plus interest as soon as practicable. The taxes and interest are due and become delinquent and incur penalties and interest as provided by law for ad valorem taxes imposed by the taxing unit if not paid before the next February 1 that is at least 20 days after the date the bill is delivered to the owner of the property.

(f) The sanctions provided by Subsection (c) do not apply if the sale is:

(1) for right-of-way; or

(2) to this state or a political subdivision of this state to be used for a public purpose.

(g) The comptroller shall adopt rules and forms to implement this section.

Added by Acts 2009, 81st Leg., ch. 359, § 1(a), eff. June 1, 2009; Acts 2009, 81st Leg., ch. 1417, § 2, eff. Jan. 1, 2010.

§ 23.23. Limitation on Appraised Value of Residence Homestead

(f) Notwithstanding Subsections (a) and (e) and except as provided by Subdivision (2), an improvement to property that would otherwise constitute a new improvement is not treated as a new improvement if the improvement is a replacement structure for a structure that was rendered uninhabitable or unusable by a casualty or by wind or water damage. For purposes of appraising the property under Subsection (a) in the tax year in which the structure would have constituted a new improvement:

(1) the appraised value the property would have had in the preceding tax year if the casualty or damage had not occurred is considered to be the appraised value of the property for that year, regardless of whether that appraised value exceeds the actual appraised value of the property for that year as limited by Subsection (a); and

(2) the replacement structure is considered to be a new improvement only if:

(A) the square footage of the replacement structure exceeds that of the replaced structure as that structure existed before the casualty or damage occurred; or

(B) the exterior of the replacement structure is of higher quality construction and composition than that of the replaced structure.
